

Amol Sonawane – Founder of AD Production House

To start with, he's a very interesting fellow, who's very hard to understand. He possesses a selfless attitude towards anyone whom he comes across with. He's of a very friendly nature and loves to be with people who aren't selfish.

He, who is MBA in International Business and a Gold Medalist Astrologer, had the vision to lay the foundation of AD Production House about 11 years ago.

Before he became an entrepreneur, he produced and hosted videos featuring beauty industry experts and products, while overseeing editorial content and social media strategies for several media publications.

He is a visionary and new-age businessman in the world of beauty and fashion. Apart from this, he also commands different kind of businesses like garment manufacturing, construction business and Tours & Travels.

He organizes and finances high-end beauty pageants around the country that showcase the finest fashion statements of our times. Many of the participants have been recognized for some brilliant works in the fields of acting, theatre and modelling in commercial advertisements, music videos, movies, fashion shows and many more.
